

VANDERBILT'S SONG PROTEGEE TO BE A BRIDE

Carolina Singer, Discovered by Millionaire, to Be Wed to Rich Man.

Miss Edna Woolson, niece of Gen. Lew Wallace, the author of "Ben Hur" and "The Prince of Neida," the young woman whose singing in the Biltmore Church, at Asheville, N. C., attracted the attention of George W. Vanderbilt and made him her friend, is to be married to-day in Boston to Henry Danforth Barker, of Chicago, son of William T. Barker, who was president of the World's Fair and is a former president of the Chicago Board of Trade.

Miss Woolson's home was in Asheville. Her parents were socially prominent in the Carolinas and had been well-to-do, but when Miss Woolson was sixteen years old they died, leaving her and her sister Mary practically nothing.

Miss Edna's voice had gained attention in Asheville, and it was about that time that Mr. Vanderbilt heard her sing. He offered to pay for vocal lessons for her, and for some time she was taught by instructors of note. But the Misses Woolson decided they could make their own way through the world, and both came to New York, where they quickly secured engagements on the stage.

Until two weeks ago Miss Edna was with the "Little Cherub" as understood to one of the leading parts, when she gave up the stage to prepare for her wedding, which will take place at the Hotel Fouraine.

The matron of honor will be Mrs. Agnes T. Barker, of Washington, D. C., aunt of the bride. Miss Anna Butterfield, of Lowell, Mass., will be bridesmaid. She is a member of the "Little Cherub" company.

Mr. Barker is said to be a man of great wealth, and his social position in Chicago is excellent. The wedding was not to take place until the end of the theatrical season in the spring, but for some reason the original plans were changed.

TRAIN THROWN ON ITS SIDE, THREE HURT

Tender Jumps Track Rounding a Curve, Causing Very Serious Wreck.

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., Nov. 5.—The train due here last evening on the Pickering Valley branch of the Reading road was wrecked near Kimberton, about four miles from here. Three persons were seriously injured and a number of others bruised and cut by flying glass.

The seriously injured are: H. Claude Bell, of Stowe, hurt across back and internally; Howard Engle, of Pottstown, shock and badly sprained back; Charles Hessel, fireman, sprained ankle.

The wreck was caused by the tender jumping the track while rounding a sharp curve. The engine, tender and smoking stack, the train and tender rolled over on their sides. The remaining coaches kept the track.

Robert G. Stinson, of Philadelphia, by his coolness quieted the passengers and drew the fire from the engine, preventing the wreck taking fire.

Distinctive

Suits and Overcoats for Men

At $15.00 and $20.00

Your grandfather's clock marked only the hours—the seconds came with its perfection.

So it is with garments—particularly those at modest prices. The average suit and coat can boast of little more than good fabrics.

That intricate and exacting system of ours has developed the power of expressive tailoring. It is the source of the distinctiveness and character that commend our ready-for-service Suits and Overcoats at $15 and $20. Perhaps the one factor that has contributed more than any other toward making those garments more than justify the prices is this:

The models and patterns were designed for garments that cost again as much. That insures for the Suits and Overcoats at $15 and $20 the style and lines that characterize our finer product.
